David -

I checked with Rich (copied here) and neither of us are quite sure which parcel you're referring to. Do you have an address or can you help us find it on the map?

Aha. I understand the question now.

I have not spoken to Jim since he bought that property. My assumption had been that he is focused on density and would be looking to use every acre. And a public-private partnership with the city on the land has been what I have been chasing – as this sends a powerful message to our philanthropic partners.

I will check in with Jim today...just to see.
